Dear Dr. Wilson:

My name is Michael P. Qualey, Sr. and I am Data Processing Supervisor for the State of Maryland. I am responsible for the supervision of a remote job entry (RJE) terminal for the General Accounting Division; the functions consist of Data Entry, Computer Operations, and Data Control.

I have been associated with Mr. Brannan for about twelve years. We worked together in Computer Operations for several years, starting in 1967; during part of this time, Mr. Brannan worked under my supervision.

Mr. Brannan is a very intelligent person who is capable of following the most complex written or oral instructions. He has done well in the Data Processing field because his logic is sound and he does not ignore small but important detail. Mr. Brannan was a good computer operator who understood the overall operation, and, because of this, could perceive possible problem areas.

Sincerely,

Michael Paul Qualey, Sr.
